Town is top in region for obesity

Figures 'a wake-up call that more needs to be done'

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

HAVERHILL has the highest percentage of obese adults across West Suffolk.

The "disappointing" figures were revealed as councillors worked on how to improve levels of physical activity in St Edmundsbury and Forest Heath.

Council documents show that across the two areas, the ward with the highest level of adult obesity is Haverhill North, where 29.6 per cent of adults are obese. The second most obese area is Haverhill West, where the figure is 29 per cent. This is followed by Haverhill South, where 28.6 per cent of adults are obese. In Haverhill East, as well as St Olaves and Northgate in Bury St Edmunds, 28.4 per cent of adults are obese.

Jack Tappin, who runs HaverSports, which organises events such as the Haver10 10k run and the HaverMara marathon said: "It's disappointing and quite sad to hear that there are such high rates of obesity in West Suffolk. While there are all sorts of reasons for that, people can take responsibility for their health.

"We have got lots of great clubs in town. We've got a cycling club, a swimming club - there are all these things out there."

He said that lack of money should not be a barrier to physical activity, as there are plenty of things that residents can do for free to get active, from walking with friends to using the outdoor free gym at Puddlebrook Playing Fields.

Town clerk Colin Poole said this should be a wake-up call that more needed to be done to help Haverhill.

RETIREMENT:

Retiring teacher chalked up 29 years

A HAVERHILL teacher has retired after 29 years working at a primary school.

Margaret Stewart, 57, has been head of RE, acting headteacher and deputy headteacher as well as a classroom teacher at St Felix Primary School, in School Lane.

Mrs Stewart said: "It's meant everything to me, professionally and personally."

The school put on an assembly, a cream tea and a barn dance to wish her farewell.

COMMUNITY

Young people's ideas needed

YOUNG people in Haverhill will be able to have a say on the future of the town in a new survey.

Youngsters are being asked about what activities and facilities they would like to see in the town.

People aged 11 to 18, are being asked to complete an online survey, the results of which will be used when local authorities are planning events.

Haverhill Town Council arts & leisure manager Nick Keeble said: "One of the key points of this survey is to find out how we can communicate more effectively with young people."

"The results will feed directly into the town council's youth strategy and shape the delivery of services and resources in the town for years to come."

JOSH THOMAS

@JoshThomasCN

The survey has been designed by young people in the town and is being led by Haverhill Town Council with support from West Suffolk Councils and Suffolk County Council.

Haverhill town clerk, Colin Poole, said the survey was a marvellous opportunity to make the town a great place for young people to grow up.

He said: "We are really pleased and excited to see it up and running and we hope we will get lots of responses. It is brilliant to be working with the borough council as a partner."

"Of course, it is great that young people have been involved in designing the questions. It's young people asking young people what is important to them."

Mr Poole said the survey fitted in well with the Haverhill youth strategy and that a priority was looking at new ways young people could access information to find out what was going on in the town.

"We're looking at using Facebook and Twitter and other platforms," added Mr Poole.

Those taking part in the survey will be entered into a draw to win £100 worth of vouchers. The closing date for the survey is August 21. Visit www.westsuffolk.gov.uk/haverhillyouthsurvey

COMMUNITY

WORK TOGETHER: PCC Tim Passmore

POLICE

'Authorities need a joined up approach'

POLICE and Crime Commissioner Tim Passmore said that authorities should be working together to tackle anti-social behaviour, and encouraged residents to report problems.

"We need to know about all forms of addiction, anti-social behaviour, and where there's an impact on neighbours and the community as a whole," he said.

"Whilst people will move around from different locations and different local authorities, that doesn't give them a licence to make other people's lives a misery."

He said that while police should be working to combat substance abuse and anti-social behaviour, some issues, such as noise, were the responsibility of the local authority and problems like mental health issues would be better tackled by the health service.

He continued: "What I have been saying for years is we must try and work together with the public sector. What we cannot do is sit there and do nothing."

He said that he did not know the details of problems at HMOs in Haverhill, but had worked on resolving issues at a bail house in Ipswich a few years ago.

In that case, he said, authorities had worked together and had used Community Resolution Orders to solve the problem.

Mr Passmore, whose role is to hold the police to account and voice the concerns of residents, urged Haverhill people to get in touch with his office or police if they had any concerns. He said if he received more reports of problems with HMOs he would be happy to raise the issue at the public sector leaders meeting.

Mr Passmore's office is on (01473) 782773 or call Suffolk Constabulary on 101.

'More inspections needed for HMOs'

HANNAH MIRSKY

COUNCIL

A COUNCILLOR has called for multi-occupancy homes in Haverhill to be inspected more regularly.

Cllr Tony Brown said that homes in Haverhill are being occupied by multiple adults who are not getting the support they need for difficult and chaotic lives.

He said that these houses of multiple occupancy (HMOs) were causing problems for other residents, particularly on Haverhill's high-density housing estates.

Cllr Brown made the comments to St Edmundsbury Borough Council's cabinet member for housing, Sara Mildmay-White, at a meeting of the council's overview and scrutiny committee last Wednesday, July 20.

He continued: "I think the strategy is not correct at all. Small HMOs with four people or less are not inspected regularly enough – once every three years.

"There's a big throughput of people in and out. How can you know what's going on?"

He was informed by a council officer that houses names of landlords that keep coming up again and again. A badly run and neglected HMO can be devastating to neighbours and people in the houses.

"We've got anecdotal evidence that other local authorities are housing people with drug and alcohol problems in our HMOs."

Cllr Mildmay-White said she was aware of the problem from speaking to Haverhill police.

She continued: "I do believe that our housing team are doing as much as they can within the regulations. So much of it is around anti-social behaviour and policing and it's about working together."

She said she was hoping to arrange a meeting between councillors, council officers and police to discuss the issue.

She pointed out that the HMOs themselves are not illegal.

'We had to put up with noise'

NEIGHBOUR

A HAVERHILL resident who has had two HMOs on his street said that one of them caused noise and nuisance for neighbours.

The man, who did not wish to be named, said: "We have had varied experiences really."

"We had one which was quite good. There were a lot of people in the house, Asians mostly, and generally they didn't cause any problems, although I think Environmental Health went down there on one or two occasions."

"The other one wasn't foreigners, it was local people, and there were drugs involved."

"We had a lot of trouble. Several incidents within two or three weeks and there was some trouble getting them removed."

"It was very bad for the whole street, and there was a massive change when they got rid of them."

He said that problems caused by the house included noise at night and shouting in the street, with lots of coming and going.

He said that his street had large houses but these problems would affect people living in terraces even more directly.

He added that he had concerns that HMOs would impact on the heritage of the town, as old Victorian houses get divided up inside to accommodate a multi-occupancy set-up.

CHARITY

Charity has to step in with offers of help

A CHARITY in Haverhill says it often has to help people who are living in HMOs and are not receiving support.

REACH Community Projects tackles poverty in Haverhill by running schemes including a food bank, furniture bank and debt support.

REACH projects director Henry Wilson said the charity helps people who arrive at the houses with very few possessions, and who encounter conflict inside the houses.

Mr Wilson said: "It's a constant thing where we are just getting people in and we hear of difficult sets of circumstances, but the main issue is just the lack of support."

The charity's operations manager Ann Merrigan said that they see or speak to people living in HMOs like this on daily basis.

She said that problems ranged from conflict with other tenants to mental health issues to facilities like ovens and hobs being left broken and unusable.

Mr Wilson is working as part of a task group set up by community partnership ONE Haverhill to help combat this problem with the aim of reducing anti-social behaviour.

He said what he would like to do is find premises where people with difficult circumstances could be housed and given the support they need.

Mr Wilson said people often come to the houses from outside Haverhill.

He said: "Every now and again people move on and then we get an influx. You can tell when you get a new property."

"We have to provide bedding, cutlery, crockery, food boxes. They arrive here with nothing."

FUN FOR FAMILIES: Members of the Mainland family at the basketball game

Town's Big Day attracts 2,000

JOSH THOMAS
@JoshThomasCN

FAMILIES flocked to Haverhill Recreation Ground to take part in fun and games at the Big Day Out.

The free event was laid on by the town council yesterday and it is thought more than 2,000 people went to have fun and to learn about the work being done to make the town a better place for everyone.

Nick Keeble, Haverhill Town Council's leisure manager, said the event was a success despite some less-than-clement weather conditions.

"It has been surprisingly good," he said. "The weather in the morning was the worst kind of weather, it was that misty rain. But the sun slowly started coming through and people began to arrive.

"We haven't totted up the numbers yet, but we think more than 2,000 people came."

The day out saw fun events and stalls set up on the recreation ground. There were zorbs, slides and a ninja assault course for children to test their skills on. There was also a mini Olympic park, with table football and water sports.

Mr Keeble said the Big Day Out was put on for free by Haverhill Town Council and that the main aim of the event was not only to entertain but to inform.

"We had 17 local organisations represented," said Mr Keeble. "We want people to see all of the good work that is being done in the town on their behalf.

"It is not a fund-raising day. People are free to enjoy the day and can make donations if they wish."

All traffic must use new road

I HAVE recently received a copy of the A1307, Three Campuses to Cambridge leaflet. One of the options put forward by the Greater Cambridge City Deal is to build an additional road alongside the present A1307.

However, the suggestion is that this road is to be a segregated bus-only road. If all motor vehicles were allowed to use this proposed road it would reduce congestion and greatly help many people. The advantages would be both in the morning and evening rush hour.

Advantages in the morning rush hour.

■ Both motorists and buses travelling on the A1307 would be able to drive straight to the Addenbrooke's site without having to join a queue of traffic. Followed by crawling the last distance taking anything up to half an hour.

■ All traffic would save fuel, thereby reducing air pollution.

■ Buses leaving the Babraham Park and Ride on the A1307 would have a quicker journey to Addenbrooke's and beyond.

■ There would be reduced congestion at the Addenbrooke's roundabout for both buses and motorists coming from the city.

Advantages in the evening rush hour.

■ All vehicles leaving Addenbrooke's wanting to travel south on the A1307 could use this new road and not have to exit the site via the Addenbrooke's roundabout.

■ There would be a reduction of congestion at the Addenbrooke's roundabout for all traffic. This congestion always goes back right along Hills Road, sometimes as far as the railway bridge, it holds up everyone including all buses, plus Park and Ride buses.

■ There would be an increase in air quality along Hills Road, stationary or slow moving traffic uses far more fuel.

Addenbrooke's roundabout has been a cause of congestion for many years. It gets worse and worse, nothing has ever been done to change the situation. Now is the time to improve things. There must be an additional access road to this site from the south, a second Addenbrooke's road of some sort or other is urgently required. This road must be for all traffic, before the site expands any more.

Unfortunately, it appears that the City Deal group has been hijacked by the cyclist lobby. They need to remember that the original object of the City Deal was to improve the local infrastructure for everyone. It is our money that they are spending, and many of us are motorists!

run in a village of less than 1,200 residents can be taken as model suitable to be scaled-up to address an issue in a town such as Haverhill, with a population of over 27,000

I am encouraged though, by the reality check offered by Cllrs Burns and Brown; how can any scheme that proposes to fine offenders be effective without appropriate resource to enforce such, a dog warden or police support? Although it could be suggested that a proposal to offer a reward for reporting incidents is likely to result in police involvement from the potential for confrontation between dog owners and others.

So encouraging seeing that taxpayer resource is being used to fund discussions that don't appear to have any meaningful outcome other than to "tick-the-box" in an attempt to appease those who have raised a genuine issue

Support and help on offer

SSAFA, the Armed Forces charity, is the oldest, national military charity in the UK. We have been providing vital support for our troops, veterans and their families for more than 130 years.

While attention is often focused on the problems faced by older, retired veterans, SSAFA published an extensive research report on July 19 into the issues faced by younger, working age veterans.

Our research identified a group of veterans aged between 16-64 who are living in pretty desperate circumstances, often through no fault of their own. Although most transition well, these men and women are not fulfilling their potential in civilian life and their plight is too easily ignored.

Something that comes across loud and clear from our report is that many of the veterans helped by SSAFA were, for a long time after leaving the armed forces, too proud to ask for help.

If any of your readers are in need of support and they are veterans or currently serving members of the Royal Navy, British Army or Royal Air Force, or indeed their family members, please may I take this opportunity to encourage them to contact SSAFA's confidential Forcesline, which is free of the chain of command, on 0800 731 4880.

EDUCATION

New head at primary academy

A SCHOOL in Wickhambrook has appointed a new headteacher.

Wickhambrook Primary Academy has appointed Rosalind Towns to take over in September.

He said: "I knew I was arriving at an outstanding school and it has been a lovely place to work.

"Staff and parents have been so supportive and the pupils as lovely as anywhere in England and that has made the whole experience such a pleasure.

"I wish Miss Towns all the best as she prepares to take Wickhambrook Primary Academy to even greater successes."

Mr Gallacher oversaw the transition as the school joined the Samuel Ward Academy Trust.

Jason Green, chair of governors, said the acting head, joining the academy and Miss Towns put them in a good place for the future.

Haverhill man, Shane Griffin has become known for his free-running and parkour skills which have gained him parts as a stuntman in the past. But now he's getting a chance to test his acting skills as well.

He appeared as an extra in an episode of long-running soap opera EastEnders. The episode aired on July 21.

"I started filming about two months ago," said Shane. "I have got a mini character. He is Paul's friend. Paul died and one of the characters in the world of EastEnders has come back to Albert Square a few times to show his respects and I get to do a few things.

"It's a good storyline. It's pretty powerful stuff for EastEnders. It's a lot of fun and it is brilliant to have a mini character, I may get asked to come back. All the stars were there. Danny Dyer was there, he was quite fun, and Phil Mitchell (played by Steve McFadden) was there with all the rest of the cast."

@JoshThomasCN

Shane, who can often be found doing parkour and free running training in Haverhill and Cambridge, has also been pushing ahead with a number of other action-packed roles, including landing a job as a course tester for the hit television series, Ninja Warrior UK.

"I've been training for this for years," said Shane. "The opportunity came up and I went for it. When I was younger, I asked myself what career I wanted and what I would do if I didn't have to worry about money at all. I'm so lucky. It is amazing."

Shane will be testing the courses that will be used by the competitors in the next series. Speaking to the News, he said the work was incredible, but it did tend to take up a lot of his time.

"It dominates," he said. "But I don't have a girl friend."

CRIME

Three are quizzed over drugs

JOSH THOMAS

@JoshThomasCN

THREE people have been arrested on suspicion of drugs offences in Haverhill.

Officers in the Strassbourg Square area arrested two men near a property and a woman at the address on July 21 on suspicion of being concerned in the supply of class A drugs.

A 51-year-old man, of no fixed address, was taken into custody at Bury St Edmunds Police Investigation Centre where he was interviewed.

He has now been bailed to return on September 27.

A 34-year-old woman from Haverhill was also taken into custody at Bury and has now also been bailed to return on September 27.

An 18-year-old man from London was charged with possession of heroin with intent to supply, possession of crack cocaine with intent to supply and possession of cannabis with intent to supply.

Bileh Mustafa, of East London, appeared before magistrates on Saturday morning.

He was remanded in custody until his next appearance at Ipswich Crown Court on August 22.

Inspector Danny Cooper said: "Tackling drug dealing and drug use remains a priority for police in Haverhill and I would encourage anyone with information to report it to us via the local safer neighbourhood team or anonymously via Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

"It can take time to build sufficient information about a location or individual and I know this is frustrating for those affected but we are listening and will take action."

"This is the latest in a series of warrants that have been executed in Haverhill and we will keep going with enforcement for as long as is necessary. We are also working with the local authority and housing partners."

HEALTH

Action needed on obesity

"People should sit up and take notice of Haverhill," he said. "Councillors have been saying this for a long time. The borough council needs to stop saying how bad Haverhill is and start doing something about it."

Mr Poole said parts of Haverhill had ongoing social issues and that obesity may be a symptom of these. He said it was good that the borough council had picked up on the figures and that it may help alert them to some of the issues being brought up by local councillors.

He said: "We do know we have particular wards that have deprivation issues, with education provision, health care and leisure facilities."

"These issues all have something to do with obesity, so it is probably not an enormous surprise. People will start asking where their facilities are."

Councillors discussed how to increase physical activity in St Edmundsbury and Forest Heath at a joint meeting of the two council's cabinets last Tuesday.

St Edmundsbury's cabinet member for leisure and culture Joanna Rayner said afterwards that the council had developed a framework to get West Suffolk moving.

She said the framework helped the council assess applications for schemes in the local community so they could target problems in certain areas, such as adult obesity in Haverhill.

Cllr Rayner said: "It's about finding things that people enjoy. I think sport can be a barrier for people because they think they have to join a gym or have to go for a run, and that might not be what they want to do."

Police warning on pond danger

YOUNGSTERS are being warned not to swim in a dangerous pond.

With summer holidays and hot weather arriving, police have had several reports of young people going swimming in the new pond near the Arboretum development on Haverhill Research Park.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

They say that there have been at least three incidents of swimming in this area reported.

Police are reminding Haverhill's young people and their parents that swimming in the pond is potentially dangerous, as it is deep and unsupervised, and that it causes a nuisance to local residents.

Last July the owners of the Research Park had to step up security patrols in the area after incidents in which as many as 100 young people went swimming there.

Cangle Crew take on walk for charity

JOSH THOMAS

@JoshThomasCN

A GROUP of Haverhill teachers have set their sights on raising money for a local charity as they take to their feet for a moonlit walk.

The Cangle Crew comprises a group of teachers and support staff from New Cangle Primary School.

The group, consisting of Lorna Smith, Rachel Pollitt, Kerri Lange, Sarah Murkin, Maxine Pitcher, Nicola Barton, Allison Massey and Emma Austin, will be joining hundreds of others to take part in St Nicholas Hospice Care's Girls Night Out fundraising walk on September 10.

Cangle Crew member Allison Massey said: "We cannot wait to take part in Girls Night Out and we intend to enjoy every single moment of it, complete with pink T-shirts, bunny ears and our wacky sense of humour."

"Each year, we undertake a charitable event within our local community to raise funds for a worthwhile cause and each year we manage to persuade more of our staff to come and join in the fun."

"We decided to take part in Girls Night Out because the hospice is a local facility which reaches so many lives within our community in Haverhill."

Since it started in 2009 the fund-raising walk has raised more than £811,000 for the hospice, a charity which supports people across West Suffolk and Thetford facing long-term or life-threatening illnesses, and their loved ones.

The charity also runs Haverhill's Burton Centre.

You can still take part in the walk at www.girlsnightoutwalk.co.uk, or support the Cangle Crew at <https://www.justgiving.com/teams/CangleCrew>

Park hoists green flag after winning award

ONE of the town's favourite spots for wildlife and outdoor fun has been recognised with a national award.

East Town Park has been awarded The Green Flag Award by national charity Keep Britain Tidy.

Cllr Joanna Rayner, St Edmundsbury Borough Council's cabinet member for leisure, culture and heritage said: "Keeping our parks looking so clean and so great is a real team effort and my praise goes out to all of our gardeners and rangers for their hard work – the Green Flag award is recognition for their collective accomplishments."

"Now we have six weeks of school summer holidays and a great programme of park activities for children to enjoy. Many of them are free as well. So why not pack a picnic, a football and a frisbee, set your children loose on swings and slides, let them run off some of that boundless energy, go on a nature trail, spot the flora and fauna and relax in our wonderful parks?"

Teen's home-grown

“There’s just so much delicious and different stuff being made in the area by local producers. So many people out there are really thinking outside the box with ingredients and making exceptional things”

THINKING OUTSIDE THE BOX: Amelise Burr, main picture, and with parents Charlotte and Robert, the family behind the foodie firm, Cambridge Artisan

idea takes root

Emily Martin discovers how one local family has unlocked a hidden treasure trove of new tastes for the region.

If you still need to be convinced that buying groceries from local, independent sellers is infinitely tastier and better than buying them from a supermarket then one family from Melbourn might just have created the tipping point.

Cambridge Artisan is a family-run enterprise which specialises in selling delicious, unique food and drink from across the east of England. But the idea for packaging local products into hampers originally came from daughter of the Burr family, 16-year-old Amelise.

"Well, I love cooking for a start," says Amelise who is a pupil at Melbourn Village College. "Whether it's baking cakes and biscuits or thinking of a new way to serve sweet potato, you name it, I like cooking it. One day I was on YouTube watching subscription box reviews – as you do! – and the idea just came to me."

"She just came in one day and said: 'Dad I've got an idea for a business'," says Amelise's father Robert, who now runs Cambridge Artisan from a unit near the family home. "She was only 14 at the time, so we were a bit gobsmacked, but once I'd picked myself up off the floor we had a 'planning meeting' – at Amelise's suggestion – and it all went from there."

"She's a very conscientious girl," says mum Charlotte. "She likes to think things through carefully, so when she came to us with her brilliant idea we knew we should take her seriously."

Robert Burr also runs local mobile eatery Churros Bar, which launched in 2014.

"We're quite a foodie family," says Robert.

"We love experimenting with ingredients and ideas and because Amelise had seen me put Churros Bar together it had got her thinking."

Amelise says: "The idea gradually morphed into the idea to sell local food, so my dad and I started to visit local craft fairs and quickly came to realise quite how much great locally-produced food there really is out there."

The Burr family have tirelessly tested, researched and trawled local food fairs and markets. They currently have an impressive 150 producers on their books, so now Cambridge

Artisan sells items individually through the website as well as hampers of assorted items which make lovely gifts for foodies.

"There's just so much delicious and different stuff being made in the area by local producers," says Robert. "So many people out there are really thinking outside the box with ingredients and making exceptional things."

"And much of the wonderful food being made across our local counties is so hidden that nobody even knows about it. Some of the smaller producers can be quite hard to find."

The family home is stacked with products they've gathered from around the region. Jars of chutneys and mayonnaises, fruit vinegars, oils and pastes are stacked high. From Auntie Frog's Chilli and Lime dressing, Cambridge Chilli Sauce Company's Ghost Pepper Hot Sauce and Scrubby Oak's Horseradish Vinaigrette to Marimba's Milk Hot Chocolate Melt, Chazwinkle's Cauliflower and Friends pickle and Capsicana's Chilli and Coconut Brazilian Cook Sauce, you can tell everything tastes exceptional just from the delightful names and sparkling combinations.

How does Amelise find working with her mum and dad? "It's a bit strange because it doesn't really feel like working when you are just at home with your parents," she says. "Sometimes it can be frustrating, but it's fun at the same time."

Is there a favourite product that she likes to sneak out of the stock room? Amelise laughs. "It's very hard to pick a favourite, but it's probably Canesmith's salted caramels. They're amazing. Or any of the Capsicana cooking sauces."

"When the business started most of my friends didn't really understand what I was going on about, but eventually they overcame the initial shock and now they always ask how Cambridge Artisan is going... or if I'm rich yet!"

Alongside the individual sales and hampers, the family are particularly excited to have just launched a new subscription service called the East of England Discovery Box, taking the best items from Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex, Hertfordshire, Bedfordshire and Cambridgeshire and delivering them straight to your door each month.

"You'll receive a box containing a variety of different produce including things you've probably never tried before," says Robert. "People are often quite loyal to their brands and frightened to spend £3.50 on trying something new, so with these subscription boxes you're guaranteed to experience new things every month – and it might just change the way you eat and shop forever."

"There will be items in the box which you'll absolutely love and, if so, you can request that they're added to your next delivery."

"We're really excited about people trying these subscription boxes," adds Charlotte. "It's a lovely way to try new things with the peace of mind that you're buying the absolute best."

"All our producers are checked thoroughly," continues Robert, "And we have the support and input of some incredible food bloggers and local foodies like Pina, the lady behind the popular food blog onetwoculinarystew.com. "Pina tries and tests everything with us so, if we're selling it, you can bet it's going to be good."

It seems as though Amelise has had a winning idea – and she's not about to stop there either. "Cambridge Artisan will always be a big part of my life, and I hope to start more businesses in the future," she says. "In fact I'm currently working on another idea, so watch this space."

TRANSPORT Still time to have say on travel

PEOPLE and businesses are being urged to have their say on plans to create new bus and cycleways between Cambridge and Haverhill, linking three key research sites.

The Greater Cambridge City Deal has pledged to improve transport links on the A1307 between Cambridge and Haverhill, providing better travel options for commuters to Granta Park, Babraham Research Campus and Cambridge Biomedical Campus.

The initial concepts which include the prospect of a new Park and Ride site near the A11/A1307 junction, have been launched for full public consultation which will run until August 1.

Clr Lewis Herbert, leader of Cambridge City Council and Chair of the City Deal Executive Board, said: "The plans, when finalised, could revolutionise journeys for commuters travelling along this route from Cambridge, villages in South Cambridgeshire and Haverhill."

"It will mean improved and more reliable alternatives to the car for travelling between home and work or study, for part or even all of the journey."

For further information and to fill out the survey visit www/gccitydeal.co.uk.

Support for young is on the way

YOUNG people from east and west Suffolk will now receive the highest quality help to overcome eating disorders, as Norfolk and Suffolk NHS Foundation Trust (NSFT) has just launched a new-look, enhanced service.

The Children and Young People's Community Eating Disorder Service (CEDS) is now up and running, offering bespoke care to people aged up to 18 with anorexia, bulimia and binge eating disorder.

It is funded with £329,000 from NHS England, and £60,000 from NHS Ipswich and East Suffolk and NHS West Suffolk clinical commissioning groups.

Dr Rosalind Tandy, a GP in Bury St Edmunds and mental health lead for NHS West Suffolk Clinical Commissioning Group, said: "Young people who suffer eating disorders shouldn't be dismissed as being individuals who are fussy about food or have a slimming problem."

"In fact, eating disorders are severe mental illnesses. The lives of many young people are badly impaired."

What to watch out for at your cinema

STAR TREK BEYOND (12A)

CAPTAIN James T Kirk (Chris Pine) is considering relinquishing the bridge because "things have started to feel a little... episodic".

He keeps his plans secret from the rest of the crew including human-Vulcan science officer Spock (Zachary Quinto), communications officer Uhura (Zoe Saldana), navigator Pavel Chekov (Anton Yelchin), chief engineer Montgomery Scott (Simon Pegg) and helmsman Sulu (John Cho).

During a visit to a Federation starbase under the control of Commodore Paris (Shohreh Aghdashloo), an alien called Kalara (Lydia Wilson) issues a distress call to help recover her ship, which has crash-landed on a planet in a distant nebula. Kirk and the team respond and subsequently come under attack from an otherworldly despot called Krall (Idris Elba) and his swarming drones.

While the Enterprise crew forges an alliance with feisty alien warrior Jaylah (Sofia Boutella), Kirk holds firm to his moral compass, defiantly informing Krall that it's "better to die saving lives than to live taking them".

Star Trek Beyond dodges the curse of misfiring odd-numbered films in the series, but the flaws are obvious. Pine, Quinto and co are solid in roles that lack dramatic meat and don't progress the characters over two hours, and a flimsy, contrived plot resolves potential conflict with minimum blood, sweat and tears. ★★★

GHOSTBUSTERS (12A)

ERIN Gilbert (Kristen Wiig) hopes to secure tenure at Columbia University, but her academic future is thrown into disarray when childhood friend Abby Yates (Melissa McCarthy) peddles copies of their long forgotten 400-page tome, Ghosts From The Past: Both Literally & Figuratively.

The two women are reunited in the lab where Erin conducts experiments with her madcap protégée, nuclear engineer Jillian Holtzmann (Kate McKinnon). A haunting at Aldridge Mansion gives the trio their first glimpse of the fight ahead, and soon after, bally subway worker Patty Tolan (Leslie Jones) joins the team, blessed with an encyclopaedic knowledge of Manhattan's grim history.

It transpires that a demented misfit called Rowan North (Neil Casey) is summoning ghosts to create a vortex between the living and the dead. Armed with proton backpacks, the gang gallantly races into the fray, risking ridicule from the media and Mayor Bradley (Andy Garcia). When disaster looms, Erin pleads with Bradley to evacuate the city.

Ghostbusters affectionately harks back to the series' glory days before the creative misstep of the 1989 sequel. McCarthy and Wiig rekindle their Bridesmaids on-screen chemistry, with colourful turns from McKinnon and Jones, and merciless self-mockery from Hemsworth. ★★★

ICE AGE: COLLISION COURSE (U)

The film opens with Scrat inadvertently propelling a giant space rock towards

The BFG stars Ruby Barnhill as Sophie and Mark Rylance as the giant

Film pick

THE BFG (PG)

THE heroine is a precocious orphan called Sophie (Ruby Barnhill), who is snatched from her bed at the witching hour by a hooded 24-foot tall figure.

The behemoth spirits the girl over verdant valleys and crashing seas to the rolling landscapes of Giant Country. "No such place!" Sophie defiantly informs her host, who introduces himself as the Big Friendly Giant (Mark Rylance). The BFG wouldn't normally kidnap a chiddler, but he explains that he was fearful Sophie might cause a great rumbledumpus by yodelling the news that she had seen a giant.

A tender and deeply touching friendship is forged between Sophie and her kind-hearted abductor, who exists on a diet of disgusting nozzcumbers and is bullied by filthy fellow giants including Fleshlumpeter (Jemaine Clement), Bloodbottler (Bill Hader), Maidmasher (Olafur Darri Olafsson) and Manhugger (Adam Godley).

In order to rid Giant Country of these man-gobblers, Sophie hatches a hare-brained scheme to visit The Queen (Penelope Wilton) at Buckingham Palace. The BFG joins her on this madcap quest, and his presence smacks the gobs of the assembled staff including The Queen's dutiful maid Mary (Rebecca Hall) and head butler Mr Tibbs (Rafe Spall).

Directed with verve by Steven Spielberg, The BFG is a visually arresting ride that gently tugs heartstrings in between rollicking set pieces. ★★★ the third rock from the sun. Back on terra firma, Manny the woolly mammoth (Ray Romano) has forgotten about his wedding anniversary and pretends fireworks in the sky – actually meteorite chunks entering the atmosphere – are a surprise for his wife Ellie (Queen Latifah).

Wonderment turns to terror as molten missiles careen into the earth. "Manny's love is killing us!" screams one of the critters as everyone gallop into caves, cowering together for shelter.

Once the deluge subsides, Manny and his pals Diego the sabre-toothed tiger (Denis Leary) and Sid the sloth (John Leguizamo) emerge to survey the devastation.

One-eyed daredevil weasel Buck (Simon Pegg) discovers ancient runes that confirm a giant meteorite is heading for the planet. The animals, including Diego's tigress sweetheart Shira (Jennifer Lopez), Sid's 80-year-old grandmother (Wanda Sykes), Manny's spunky daughter Peaches (Keke Palmer) and her laidback boyfriend Julian (Adam DeVine), embark on a madcap quest to avert disaster.

Meanwhile, a family of carnivorous flying dinosaurs, comprising father Gavin (Nick Offerman) and children Bertie (Stephanie Beatriz) and Roger (Max Greenfield), tracks the exodus from the air.

Ice Age: Collision Course relies on old tensions between friends and family members to provide the fifth film with a burp of dramatic momentum that quickly dissipates. ★★★

THE LEGEND OF TARZAN (12A)

IT has been many years since Tarzan

(Alexander Skarsgard) left behind the jungles of Africa to settle into genteel life as John Clayton III, Lord Greystoke, with his beloved wife, Jane (Margot Robbie).

The lush paradise of the Congo is a sweet, distant memory until the British Prime Minister (Jim Broadbent) passes on an invitation from King Leopold II of Belgium to visit the Congo as a trade emissary of Parliament.

John initially refuses, but gun-slinging American envoy George Washington Williams (Samuel L Jackson) persuades the Greystoke heir to go in order to investigate rumours that Leopold has enslaved local tribes to build his railroad.

John, Jane and George depart for the Congo, unaware that they are pawns in a deadly game masterminded by Machiavellian Belgian envoy, Captain Leon Rom (Christopher Waltz), who has agreed to deliver Tarzan to Chief Moonga (Djimon Hounsou) in exchange for the legendary diamonds of Opar.

A stand-off ensues and Jane is captured as tantalising bait. Faced with the prospect of losing his soulmate, John gathers together his animal friends and unleashes the primal warrior of the past. ★★★

ABSOLUTELY FABULOUS: THE MOVIE (15)

LIFE is tough for PR doyenne Edina Monsoon (Jennifer Saunders). Her client list has thinned to Lulu and Emma Bunton and she continues to clash with strait-laced daughter Saffy (Julia Sawalha), who struggles to protect her 13-year-old daughter Lola (Indeyana Donaldson-Holness) from Edina's negative influence.

presence smacks the gobs of the assembled staff including The Queen's dutiful maid Mary (Rebecca Hall) and head butler Mr Tibbs (Rafe Spall).

Directed with verve by Steven Spielberg, The BFG is a visually arresting ride that gently tugs heartstrings in between rollicking set pieces. ★★★

To add insult to injury, Edina's lucrative book deal for her memoir collapses when an editor points out that she has nothing to say. "I put Sting in a rainforest, I put Bono behind yellow glasses," splutters Edina, "I gave celebrities AIDS!"

Thankfully, best friend Patsy Stone (Joanna Lumley) is in the media eye and her magazine is sponsoring a lavish party for enigmatic designer Huki Muki (Janette Togh). Kate Moss, who is between publicists, is due to attend the soiree and Edina vows to add the supermodel to her dwindling client roster before arch rival Claudia Bing (Celia Imrie).

This hare-brained scheme goes tragically awry and the fashion world points the finger of blame for Kate Moss' demise at Edina and Patsy. "Manslaughter charges might be brought," confirms a detective (Robert Webb), who is dating Saffy.

When ditzy secretary Bubble (Jane Horrocks) vanishes too, Edina and Patsy flee to the Cote d'Azur to snag wealthy husbands. "Living well is the best revenge," affirms Patsy with a lipstick-smudged grin. ★★★

CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE (12A)

CALVIN Joyner (Kevin Hart) was the golden boy of his high school in 1996, winning countless awards for his sporting prowess. He proudly assumed the nickname Golden Jet and delighted classmates with his signature move: a backflip from a standing position.

In sharp contrast, overweight misfit Robbie Weiricht (Dwayne Johnson) was bullied mercilessly by classmates and suffered the humiliation of being flung naked into the school gymnasium during an end of term student rally.

Twenty years later, Calvin is a humble accountant, who has married his sweetheart, Maggie (Danielle Nicolet). Their high school reunion beckons and Calvin is reluctant to attend because he doesn't feel he has delivered on the promise of his formative years. Out of the blue, Robbie reconnects with Calvin via social media and the two men bond over a couple of drinks.

It transpires that Robbie is a CIA agent, who may or may not be in possession of missile launch codes that are poised to be sold to a mysterious buyer (Thomas Kretschmann).

Rival CIA agent Pamela Harris (Amy Ryan) and her colleagues recruit Calvin because they believe Robbie is a terrorist known as the Black Badger. Torn between past and present, Calvin must deduce if he can trust Robbie or if he is being used as a pawn in a deadly conspiracy. ★★★

NOW YOU SEE ME 2 (12A)

NOW You See Me 2 opens with a heart-rending 1980s prologue that emboldens the underlying theme of father-son relationships. Fast-forwarding to the present, it has been one year since the Four Horsemen outwitted Interpol and put former magician Thaddeus Bradley (Morgan Freeman) behind bars.

FBI agent Dylan Rhodes (Mark Ruffalo) assigns the remaining Horsemen – close-up conjurer Daniel Atlas (Jesse Eisenberg), mentalist Merritt McKinney (Woody Harelson) and street magician Jack Wilder (Dave Franco) – a new case. They must expose businessman Owen Case (Ben Lamb), who possesses software that maliciously steals personal data.

Sassy illusionist Lula May (Lizzy Caplan) replaces missing member Henley and the team infiltrates Case's high-profile media launch to expose his skulduggery.

Alas, the trick is on the Horsemen and Dylan is publicly exposed as the Fifth Horseman to his boss, deputy director Natalie Austin (Sanaa Lathan).

Meanwhile, Atlas, Merritt, Jack and Lula fall into the clutches of Macau-based mastermind Walter Mabry (Daniel Radcliffe), who requires the team to infiltrate a high-security facility housing Case's data-mining technology. ★★★

THE SECRET LIFE OF PETS (U)

KATIE (voiced by Ellie Kemper) lives in her Manhattan apartment with a mischievous terrier named Max (Louis CK). He is good friends with other domesticated animals and birds including a pampered Eskimo dog named Gidget (Jenny Slate), who is head over fluffy tail in love with Max.

Max's bond with Katie is threatened when his owner brings home a lolling mongrel named Duke (Eric Stonestreet), who she has saved from the pound.

Intense rivalry spills out on to the city streets where Max and Duke fall foul of a sphynx cat called Ozone (Steve Coogan) and are mistaken for strays by animal control officers.

The Secret Life Of Pets is the brainchild of the makers of Despicable Me and Minions, and retains a similar visual style and family-friendly sense of humour. ★★★

'You lookin' at me Niro?'

KOREAN brand Kia is promising to shake up the world of hybrid vehicles in August month with the launch of its latest model the Niro.

Costing from £21,295, the newcomer blends the styling of a compact crossover vehicle with the low emissions and high fuel economy of a hybrid car.

And with CO2 emissions as low as 88g/km and fuel economy of up to 74.3mpg, the Niro will ensure Kia stays on track to cut the average emissions of its range by 25 per cent before 2020.

Niro is not based on any other Kia but is a dedicated hybrid model with an all-new platform which will only ever be used for electrified vehicles.

It also has a new powertrain featuring a 1.6-litre, 104bhp engine and a 43.5bhp electric motor driving through a six-speed double-clutch automatic transmission.

The car's sleek crossover profile along with the use of high-strength steel and aluminium in the body construction helps keep down weight – contributing to the low fuel consumption and emissions.

Connectivity and active safety technologies include Kia Connected Services featuring TomTom, wireless smartphone charging, autonomous emergency braking, smart cruise control and lane-keeping, blind spot and rear cross traffic warning systems.

Niro comes to the UK in a four-model line-up badged '1', '2', '3' and First Edition, all well kitted out with comfort, luxury and driver assistance features.

So every version has a Lane Keep Assist System, Hill-start Assist Control, Cruise Control and a Speed Limiter as well as a DAB radio and the capacity to support Bluetooth, smartphones and music streaming.

Grade '1' comes with 16-inch alloys, a high-gloss black radiator grille, dual automatic air-con, windscreen de-fogging, LED daytime running lights, a 3.5-inch TFT screen, electric windows, USB and AUX ports and a trip computer.

Level '2' adds stuff like a 7-inch touchscreen nav system with European mapping, a reversing camera and Kia Connected Services linked to TomTom, leather steering wheel and gearshift, roof rails, rear privacy glass, reversing sensors, an under-floor tray, rain-sensing wipers and folding door mirrors.

Further additions for grade '3' are an 8-inch touchscreen, a wireless mobile phone charger and an eight-speaker ® Premium sound system

DEDICATED: The Niro has been built as a hybrid rather than Kia using an existing model and tweaking it with an external amplifier. The alloys are 18-inch and you also get leather upholstery, front parking sensors and heated front seats.

Meanwhile, the flagship First Edition version adds Autonomous Emergency Braking, Blind Spot Detection with a Rear Cross Traffic

Alert and Smart Cruise Control. Prices are from £21,295 for the Niro 1.6 GDi '1' model rising to £26,995 for the First Edition.

IN THE FAST LANE: Despite its size, this car is blisteringly quick off the mark

Audi's new Q7 really is the torque of the town

THINK SUVs and it conjures up images of practical, versatile cars – some very stylish, some not quite so high on quality – but rarely do you enter a 0-62 sprint time of 4.9 seconds into the equation.

Admittedly there are high-end versions out there such as the Range Rover Sport and Porsche Cayenne, but now Audi has introduced a flagship model to its Q7 line-up and it has pretty impressive performance stats along with some very interesting new and innovative technology.

Beneath the bonnet is an all-new 4.0-litre V8 twin-turbodiesel engine delivering 435ps and 900Nm of grunt, giving the SQ7 the highest power to weight ratio in class and the highest torque to weight ratio in class.

It is also the first car to feature an electrically-powered compressor which is designed to speed up response times, so giving instant power at low revs and eradicating any signs of turbo lag. And that, in layman's terms, translates into instant power.

The SQ7 looks stunning from any angle and its athletic stance is guaranteed to deliver quite a presence on the roads.

Styling cues include 21-inch alloys,

Audi Matrix LED headlights, a single frame grille, red painted brake callipers with the S logo, LED tail lights with dynamic sweeping indicators, S styling on the bumper, side ventilation grilles, side skirt and roof spoiler, a panoramic sunroof, privacy glass and lots of chrome trim.

Step inside and the level of on-board technology simply cannot fail to impress.

The luxury that surrounds you is premium in every sense of the word and there are creature comforts and techno treats galore to be explored.

The car features Audi's superb virtual cockpit set-up that was first seen on the TT a couple of years back – this allows the driver to personalise the information that is displayed.

In addition there is a head-up display, BOSE 3D sound system, a 8.3-inch high resolution touchscreen, multi-media interface with sat nav, DAB digital radio and smartphone connectivity, ambient lighting and a list that seemingly never ends.

The SQ7 is an exceptionally spacious seven seater with a third row of seats that fold down flush to the boot floor.

When full to capacity the boot still caters for 235 litres. With the rear seats dropped that capacity increases to 705 litres and with the 35:30:35 split-folding rear seats flat a whopping 1,890 litres of storage is available.

The car is priced at £70,970, but in true Audi tradition a raft of optional extras bumped up the car I sampled to £95,160. That said; many of the options were upgrades to systems that would be fine as standard, so the increase can be monitored to suit demand and budgets accordingly.

The first thing that has to be mentioned when you take your seat (heated and leather of course) behind the three-spoke flat-bottomed leather multi-function sport steering wheel is just how comfortable the car is.

The all-round visibility from the high seating position is superb as is the attention to details with all controls, dials and instrumentation perfectly positioned for ease of use.

Push the start button and the car rumbles into life, add slight pressure to the throttle and that rumble becomes more of a roar and is a not-so-subtle insight into what's in store.

The eight-speed automatic transmission is beautifully responsive and you can take a little more control via the paddle shifts if the mood takes you.

The acceleration is blisteringly fast for such a colossus of a vehicle and yet it handles with outstanding agility – even when pushed hard into bends. Another notable factor is how well insulated and silent the cabin remains with very little wind, road or engine noise.

Motorway cruising is effortless as the car seems to glide along eating up the miles, and then busy towns with lots of congestion pose few problems thanks to that great visibility and a whole range of parking aids.

We even took the car on an off-road course and it weaved its way through slippery fields and climbed muddy banks with absolute ease. Well it does boast quattro all-wheel drive after all, and the off-road setting adds further to its capabilities. Other settings such as Dynamic can be activated when you really want to crank up the responses and sharpen the handling.

The top speed has been electronically limited to 155mph and according to official figures the SQ7 can deliver combined fuel economy of 37.2mpg with carbon emissions of 199g/km (on 21-inch tyres).

HISTORY: Impress your friends

Remembering a great day for football

A PERSONALISED registration commemorating England's World Cup victory of 1966 is being auctioned by the DVLA – almost 50 years to the day since that historic win.

The registration WC66 ENG will be among 1,500 being auctioned during the agency's live summer three-day sale at the Morgan motor factory in Malvern later this week.

WC66 ENG – or lot 1,368 – will go under the hammer with a £400 reserve during the closing stages of the event on Friday afternoon (July 22), eight days prior to the 50th anniversary of England's 4-2 defeat of West Germany. Adam Griffiths, of DVLA Personalised Registrations, said: "We wanted to commemorate England's World Cup win of 1966 in some way and then, after researching the possibilities, we discovered the WC66 ENG new-style combination was available. Hopefully, it'll find its way to a fan."

For Loch Ness Monster hunters there's NES 511E (reserve £250).

EXTRAS: The Qubo has plenty

Fiat's 'functional' Qubo now on sale

THE order book has opened for Fiat's latest Qubo MPV model, which will cost from £11,695 for the 1.4-litre Pop version.

Heralded by Fiat as part of its 'functional family', the Qubo sits alongside the Panda, Doblo and new Tipo hatchback and station wagon in the Italian company's stable.

Blending the footprint of a supermini with the interior of an MPV, it boasts room for five adults plus a 250-litre boot.

This marvellous value cruise is a wonderful way to experience the very best of the beautiful Rhine. Beginning in the ancient town of Andernach and ending in the great city of Cologne, with its historic Altstadt and twin-towered cathedral, the holiday includes the unforgettable journey through the UNESCO-listed Middle Rhine, with its vineyards, fairytale villages and 'robber-baron' castles, and a passage through the fabled Rhine Gorge beneath the legendary Lorelei. With calls at the celebrated wine town of Rüdesheim, with its Weinstüben and famous Drosselgasse street, at historic Mainz and Koblenz, where the Rhine meets the Moselle, and with the chance on an optional excursion to explore the beautiful Ahr Valley, this will be a very special Rhine cruise holiday to savour and enjoy.

Our price includes

HAVERHILL SPORT

Kerr shows potential with record display

Golf

ELLIS Kerr set a new record as he won the Diamond Division at the latest Shires Youth Tour event in Kettering.

The six-year-old Haverhill golfer is the youngest player to win a competition on the tour, with a tally of 30 points.

Kerr broke the record set by the third-placed finisher Jack Meakin, who is 31 days older, at Bedford earlier this year.

Kerr also finished second in the under-eights section of the East Anglian Junior Championships at Stonham Barn.

Haverhill trio Fiona Stokes, James Iron and Josh Hulyer were edged out by just two points in the final of the Suffolk Junior Team Championship.

The match went right to the last hole of the 54 played, but Newton Green took the win 100-98.

Back at the club, Judy Farren won the ladies' midweek medal with nett 69 and Pauline Calmett won the weekend medal with a round of 73.

Val Shipp won the midweek

PRIZES: The winners from Haverhill's Pro-Am stableford after scoring 36 points and Chris Grainger won the Saturday competition with 42.

Elaine Ward and Mandy Williamson triumphed in the Ladies Starlighters, while Jenni Bradnam and Lindsey Cornish won the 'beat the pro' game with 45 points.

Lady captain Shipp hosted her Lady Captain's Day too and the greensomes competition was won by Lyn Fish and Kirsty Iron.

Haverhill's annual PGA East Region Pro-Am saw Jason Livermore and Ian Campbell joint-first in the professionals competition with 67.

The winning team were John Lo, Walter Pobwana and John Kaske, who had Suffian Dhaduk as their pro.

Rovers draw with Hundon

HAVERHILL. Rovers had to settle for a share of the spoils in their pre-season friendly away to Hundon on Tuesday.

Oliver Stevenson put Rovers ahead after 17 minutes, punishing a lapse in the Hundon defence.

Mitchell Burr then hit the bar for the visitors, but Milo Holmes got Hundon back on level terms three minutes before the break by scoring directly from a corner.

Rory Jebb, Chris Claydon and

Football

Stevenson all went close for Rovers after the break, but could not grab a winner.

It follows the 3-1 win over Thurlow Nunn League newcomers Holland last Saturday, with Danny Hill, Mason Newman and Ryan Weaver on target for Rovers.

Haverhill Borough were held to a 2-2 draw away to Chatteris Town in last Saturday's friendly.

Cameron Watson put Borough ahead and Aaron Forshaw made it 2-0 before half time from the penalty spot.

Two quick goals after the restart got Chatteris back level and although Forshaw and Bart Pater hit the post, it ended all square.

Borough have also been awarded a £3,000 'Grow the Game' grant from the Football Foundation, which will go towards the club adding two new teams.

Motorsport

BRIAN Chandler enjoyed an outing in a Porsche 997 GT3 car when he competed in the MSVR GT Cup Championship at Oulton Park.

The Haverhill driver teamed up with car owner and MAS Motorsport boss Mike Sellar, with backing from Orange Racing, Mac Tools, Pro Alloy, We Do Signs & Labels, BC Cars and KS Autos.

Chandler revels in rare Porsche GT3 outing

Chandler was due to take part in a sprint race and an hour-long endurance race.

He started the former in 12th overall but a crash at the start resulted in it being red-flagged, and the time taken to remove cars from the track meant it was not re-started.

The endurance race saw Sellar take the first stint but a mechanical problem resulted in the team losing four laps on the leaders.

Chandler took the wheel for the final 25 minutes and showed impressive pace.

"I couldn't have taken this opportunity without sponsors from my local town," he said.

"I appreciate their efforts so much. We knew we couldn't get a podium finish (in the endurance race) so I just had the mindset to beat my team-mate's time and try to match my lap time to the leading cars."

Rider Abbink impresses on his international debut

JAYDEN Abbink produced a superb performance at an international MK Master Kids motocross event in Verdun, France.

The 10-year-old was making his international debut, and rose to the occasion in style.

Representing South Africa, the country of his dad Johan, the Place Farm Academy pupil competed in the under-12 65cc category.

He came through qualification in the silver group and then finished in second place in scorching heat.

Jayden, who rides for East Anglian

Motorcross

Schoolboys Scrambling Club, said: "I'm so happy with what I've achieved."

"To represent South Africa was amazing, and I really enjoyed the experience."

"I just want to keep riding so I can continue to progress, and return next year."

The youngster also thanked the team at Jim Aims Motorcycles Ltd, based at Sible Hedingham, for their support.
